

ESSEC Business School, Paris and Singapore Campuses

Assistant/Associate Professor of Finance

The Finance Department of the ESSEC Business School is opening tenure track positions for assistant/associate professors for its Paris (Cergy) and Singapore campuses. Interviews will be conducted at the Annual Meeting of the American Finance Association to be held on January 4-6, 2019 in Atlanta.

JOB QUALIFICATIONS: The Department invites applications from candidates in all fields, but those whose research focuses on fintech or applications of machine learning/big data in finance are of special interest. Candidates should be expected to complete their Ph.D. at the latest in September 2019, and should exhibit potential for excellence in research.

ABOUT THE SCHOOL: ESSEC is a French "Grande Ecole" with campuses in the Paris metropolitan area and in Singapore. ESSEC offers graduate level training in finance and business administration and was the first AACSB accredited business school outside the United States and Canada. Courses are taught in English. More information on ESSEC can be found at <http://www.essec.edu>. The Finance Department has a total of 21 permanent faculty members in Paris and Singapore and is strongly dedicated to research. It offers courses at all levels (undergraduate, master and Ph.D.).

APPLICATION PROCEDURE: Interested candidates should send a cover letter, a complete vita, sample copies of their research (published or working papers) and at least two letters of recommendation by November 24, 2018 to finance@essec.edu
