

Assistant Professor in Social Innovation

ESSEC Business School, Paris Campus

The Public and Private Policy Department at ESSEC Business School invites applications for a full time faculty position at assistant level in social innovation in its Paris Campus.

Created in 1907, ESSEC is a leading European business school, a French “Grande Ecole”, with four campuses: two campuses in the Paris metropolitan area, one in Singapore and one in Morocco (Rabat). It offers bachelor and graduate level training in business administration (GBBA, MSc, MBA, EMBA, Specialized Masters, PhD). ESSEC has a long tradition of exploring, teaching and researching how strategy and management may be mobilized to further the public good. It was the first French Business School to launch a Chair in Social Entrepreneurship in 2003, to create in 2009 an Institute for Social Entrepreneurship and Social Innovation, and to launch, in 2011, a research Chair in Philanthropy. This recruitment seeks to strengthen ESSEC’s faculty resources on the vibrant topic of social innovation, in the nonprofit, for profit or public sector. The Private and Public policy department comprises fourteen faculty members, with expertise in Law, Negotiation, Urban Policy, Real Estate, Public Policy, Social Entrepreneurship and Philanthropy. It hosts a Chair in Urban Economics, a Chair in Social Entrepreneurship, a Chair in Philanthropy, a Chair in Real Estate as well as three research centers (on Negotiation, Public concertation and Law and Economics).

To be considered, candidates should hold a Ph.D. (doctorate) in Management, Organizational Behavior or Business Ethics. They should show evidence of excellence in both research and teaching, as well as of a deep commitment to the topic of social innovation. Given the anticipated development of ESSEC’s chair in Philanthropy, specific expertise on philanthropy would be a plus. They will need to demonstrate an ability to reach out and collaborate with practitioners as well as to manage projects involving a wide variety of stakeholders. Candidates will have to be fluent both in French and English and be capable of teaching in both languages at undergraduate, graduate and executive education level.

Support to research is key to ESSEC policy and faculty members enjoy a very favorable environment. Salaries and incentives are competitive at European levels. Rank of appointment and salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience.

Candidates should send their applications (including a cover letter, a detailed curriculum vitae, a sample article that is most representative of her/his research, three names of individuals willing to write a recommendation letter, and any relevant information about their involvement in academic and professional communities) to Dorothee Quittelier (dorothee.quittelier@essec.edu).

Candidates will be evaluated on the basis of their academic competences, their international exposure as well as on their ability to adapt to the French context. After a first selection on the basis of the application file, the candidates may be invited to present their research in front of an academic recruitment committee and to participate in some on-campus interviews (air travel and accommodation in Paris will be covered by ESSEC).

The final closing date for applications is October 31st, 2018.

The position will be available from January 1st, 2018.
